

School Daze – Unknowing

---

Background

The first anime I watched was Akira, but my second was Project A-Ko and ever since I've loved the sometimes silly, teenage style, cartoons of everything from Bleach to Clannad.

This is, kind of, my tribute to that style.

The Story

As with the anime I watch, I wanted a story about a pupil, living in a world slightly different to ours, who starts to uncover a truth. City of Heroes is ideal for the setting as it already has the modern city with all the super powers required.

So this is about normal people in the world which is far from normal, but with the shiny look rather than the ever present gloom that comes from evil being just around the corner.

Other Notes

I already like the characters in the story and so there might be more to follow (hence the title).
